Calculus I & Physics I for Engineers
Themed Learning Community

Engineering students: If you are taking Physics I with Calculus I, this is for you! This paired set of courses will allow you to explore the concepts of calculus while learning to apply them in physics. These connected courses, with the assistance of an upperclassmen peer leader, will help you get to know like-minded classmates and your professors, while working toward your major.

Courses for this TLC include PHYS 253: Fundamentals of Physics I: Mechanics (with lab) and MATH 229: Calculus I.

OPEN TO ENGINEERING MAJORS

“It’s a good starting point for a freshman in college. It’s a good way to get to know students and professors.”
